

Only about half of the charge inside the diode comes out as reverse current

